OUR EXPERTISE

Moving the Needle

Baker Public Relations has worked across the technology continuum, from startups to Fortune 500 companies that revolutionize the way we work.

We “make sense of complexity,” creating the narrative to illustrate how what you do is important. Better yet, we show how your work improves people’s work, and more importantly, their lives and their experience.

We then translate your story into topics that resonate with media, influencers, stakeholders, elected officials and the public.

We get down to the nitty-gritty as to how technology can solve a specific problem or enhance lives.

Our team is passionate about increasing your visibility, building your brand and helping you succeed in a world that is ever-changing.
